Growing Southwestern Colorado’s Orchard Culture & Economy - a MORP/TNC Initiative

Capital Campaign Quarterly Report

December, 2019

Funding Goal, Phase I to purchase historic orchard property

$437,000 by Feb 2020

Campaign Progress

Raised to Date, Phase I: $377,892

Balance Required, Phase I: $59,108

Major commitments secured for phase I

The Nature Conservancy: $297,000

Gates Family Foundation: $45,000

Kenney Brothers Foundation: $15,000

El Pomar Foundation: $5,000

Individuals $15,892

Campaign made public, July 2019

Phase I: 86% Goal Reached!

Historic Orchard Property & Infrastructure

Turn all the Apples Red

35 acres historic orchard site
35 shares MVI Irrigation
crew housing & outbuildings

1937 aerial of orchard site

Campaign Purpose

Phase I, Purchase of Orchard Property: MORP has identified an historically significant orchard property that will allow it to expand the impact of its program areas by acquiring a location to provide harvest and juicing infrastructure and service crew housing to achieve its vision of southwestern Colorado being renowned for an orchard culture and economy based on the legendary quality and diversity of Montezuma Valley Fruits.

In addition, on the property, MORP will preserve Colorado’s historic apple varieties as a genetic bank / conservation orchard of national importance. In partnership with The Nature Conservancy (TNC), it will implement best practices in irrigation efficiency and house an educational center to demonstrate the value of the orchard culture and water conservation to the region.

Phase II: Once MORP secures orchard property, it will build harvest and juicing infrastructure and acquire mobile juicing equipment to turn the region’s abundant apple crop (50,000 bushel potential), that now mostly goes to waste, into a value-added product to benefit the people of Colorado. In the end, every gulp of apple juice and cider made as a result of this project will directly support the mission of restoring historic, heritage orchards in our state.

Help us turn all the apples red on the fundraising tree. Support MORP’s work and help us reach our campaign goal by making a donation today! When you give, please consider an additional year-end donation to keep our programs growing strong. (see other side)

We are grateful, The MORP Team. MORP is a program of Onward! A Legacy Foundation.